John will provide an overview of the diagnostic challenges childhood disorders present. Although labels have their place, they rarely tell us anything we didn't already know was happening. This seminar will go "underneath" the diagnoses to discuss the deeper real-life factors which often cause a child to present with symptoms which get a certain label. By identifying the real-life underlying causal factors - we can discuss the many strategies that can be applied both at school and at home, which target the things driving the challenging behaviours in a new way.
