

Dyslexia Infographic for Teachers: Student Supports

Allow more time for tests

Avoid copying notes from the board

Don't ask them to read aloud

Review lesson content at start/end of each lesson

Use a scribe for tests

Use technology, eg. speech to text

Explicitly teach every new concept

Give time reminders to help with time management

Praise effort, not results

Provide word banks for tests/ assignments

Don't take marks off for spelling

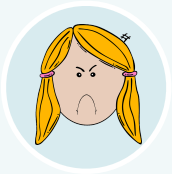

Provide visual and verbal instructions

Have a buddy system in place

Provide options for assessments, eg. oral, powerpoint

Remember they are easily frustrated

Provide copies of notes

Provide checklists for work, eg. punctuation

Allow oral responses

Allow computer use in class/ home

Use clear language on worksheets

Don't explain content while students are writing

Simplify test format, eg circle answer rather than write it

Use a reader

Minimise copying of work

Communicate with parents regularly

Try untimed tests

Remember they are trying, they are not lazy

Allow the use of spell check

Less info on worksheets

Give instructions one at a time

Allow them to take photos of school work

Be discreet with support

Provide work in small chunks

Allow audio books

Encourage verbal participation